JUNIOR GRANGE MEETING

The Mattapoisett Junior Grange held its bi-monthly meeting Friday night with the worthy master, William Sylvia, Jr., presiding.

This being the last meeting until September 10th, plans were made for the annual Penny Fair for August 13th. The committee appointed for the various tables is as follows: Master, general chairman; Wayne Sylvia, Joseph Alves and George LeBlanc, white elephants; Susan Silva, food; Karen Ramos and Heather Lenz, rummage; Regan and Kim Lenz and Kathy Costa, comic books; Jane and Dorothy Wheeler, plants and flowers; Mark Harris, Mark Breton and Neil Sylvia, vegetables; Joann Silva, grabs; Harlene Fearing, balloons.

All Junior members are asked to be present and help with arrangements at 12 noon. The Fair will open at 1:30 on the Grange grounds if fair weather, and in the hall in case of rain.

Mrs. Mary Messier, assistant matron, was reported ill. It was reported that Mark Harris had lost his grandmother.

The lecturer, Joseph Alves, presented a "Yankee Doodle" program. Joann Silva read a short history from Early Patriotic Songs, quoting that the most popular song with the soldiers of Washington's Army was Yankee Doodle. It is a very old air and one of the universal folk tunes of the world and was introduced to America by Dr. Richard Shackburg, an English doctor who made up the words as a satire, and thus proving the song a most popular tune.

The Juniors then sang the song with Walter Caswell at the piano.

Magazines, scissors and paste were then distributed among the members who made Yankee Doodle posters. Joseph and John Alves and Wayne Sylvia were judged best and received prizes. All posters were so good they were put up on the bulletin boards.

Refreshments of brownies, cookies and punch were served by Regan Lenz and George LeBlanc.

Thomas, Elisabeth Prewitt, with the help of Flora Azar, have arranged the program for the gala evening for your pleasure.

Anna Maria Gacek has arranged for the Sarmatia Folk Dancers to dance in their colorful costumes. With Miss Gulecas' assistance, the Greek Dancers will there with their tasseled hats and tasseled socks. Father Saad of Our Lady of Purgatory Church has arranged for the Lebanese Dancers and musicians to be on hand. This group is very unusual with their plaintive Arabic music played on original ethnic instruments. Among the other numbers will be our own American Square Dancing under the direction of Mrs. Edward Vieria, the dances being called by the well-know Eddie Vieria. Aileen Lubin, the first president of the Marion Art Center, will give the introduction to what should be a delightful evening for everyone. In case of rain, the folk dance festival will be held the following Wednesday.

150 Years Ago -- The War of 1812
THE SEAWEED FORT

One hundred and fifty years ago the people of Mattapoisett went through days and nights of terror such as had never been experienced in the village before and certainly have never since. The second war with England was in full swing all during 1814, and enemy warships were bombarding and attacking towns around the Bay with frightening success.

The little village of 40 houses with its many shipyards and its saltworks and its many ships --some of them of 400 tons or more for the European and Russian trade--made a tempting target along with New Bedford, "the privateers' nest", and Wareham and Falmouth with their yards and merchant vessels and privateers.

For the first year and a half of the war, the British blockading squadrons seemed to have left Buzzards Bay alone. For this reason, the citizens of Mattapoisett and surrounding communities apparently did surprisingly little in the way of fortifying and arming their harbors. The war was far away; there had been a few defeats and victories along the Canadian Border; Washington had been burned, to be sure, but American privateers were taking heavy toll of British shipping; and hadn't the Constitution sunk the Gueriere?

However, late in 1813 His Britannic Majesty's Armed Brig Nimrod, carrying sixteen 34 pounders, two long nines, and one 18 pounder sailed into Buzzards Bay and began her campaign of attacking all shipyards and wharves, ships and store houses, saltworks, factories, and ropewalks that she could find.

She first attacked Falmouth, bombarding the village because the inhabitants refused to surrender two field guns and the Nantucket mail packet which had slipped into harbor to escape capture.

Perhaps it was the shock of this actual attack that shook the people of Mattapoisett into action, and speedy action at that. There was no time to build forts, bring in cannon, and march in detachments of troops. But a big bluff might work. And so there was built the famous seaweed fort, the great hoax that saved the town until it could be sufficiently armed.

As the Nimrod reconnoitered around the Bay, her captain must have noted with satisfaction how entirely exposed and defenseless at Mattapoisett were the ships lying at wharves and moorings, the half built hulls in the yards, and behind them, the storehouses and workshops and saltworks. There was nothing to prevent his longboats, each mounting a three pounder and carrying 30 marines, from landing and burning the vessels and waterfront to ashes. And so one evening he must have gone to bed content that his maneuvre could be carried out in a trice.

But the next morning when he levelled his telescope at the village, what could his feelings have been? The shipyards and docks, which but yesterday had lain wide open, were now defended by a substantial fortification, mounting heavy cannon, and manned by several detachments of armed troops whose caps and rifles he could see as they marched to and fro above the line of the fort.

What had happened? Well, the night before, as soon as it was dark, everybody--men, women, and children--flocked to the waterfront and went to work. They piled up a long high bank of seaweed, stretching the length of the harbor front. Over the top of this, many great logs painted black, with muzzle holed outlined, pointed out to the Bay. And bright and early, all the children in town, paper soldier-hats on their heads and sticks over their shoulders, marched back and forth behind the fortification, only their hats and the ends of the sticks showing.

Mattapoisett was strongly defended--and saved for the time being.

(Next week: The British start their attacks.)

CAPEWAY LITTLE LEAGUE RESULTS

Tuesday, June 29th, the Rochester Royals shut out the Marion Eagles in a play-off game to clinch first half honors 3 to 0. Kevin Night pitched a one-hitter for the winners.

The Mattapoisett Blues defeated the Marion Cubs 6 to 5 to stay undefeated in second round action. Jimmy Wing was the winning pitcher.

The Mattapoisett Reds trounced the Mattapoisett Greens 9 to 6. Ken Wilbur pitched a strong game for the winners. The batting honors went to Terry Carter, who had three hits and a fielder's choice for a total of 6 RBI'S. Perhaps this was his going away gift to the Greens, for his team. Terry is moving to Virginia, where his father is presently employed. The Greens presented Terry with a new baseball, wishing him

Tuesday, July 1st. This was a sad day in Mattapoisett with all Mattapoisett teams losing decisively. Rochester Royals gave the Mattapoisett Blues a sound drubbing for the Royals first win and the Blues first loss of second round action. The score was 14 to 1 with Jeff Gingras hurling the win.

At Marion's Washburn Memorial Field, the Marion Cubs virtually eliminated or demolished any hope of second round honors for the Mattapoisett Greens. The Greens, in being clobbered 9 to 2, lost their third straight game, and as yet are winless in the second half. Peter Francis of the Cubs was the winning pitcher.

At Sippican School field, the Mattapoisett Reds succumbed to the ringing bats of the Marion Eagles and were bombed 14 to 5. The Eagles, taking their first win of the second round as

FARM TEAM RESULTS

The Mattapoisett Farm Team traveled to Rochester last Friday and although they had better pitching and plenty of hitting, this was not enough to be successful as Rochester edged them 8 to 7. Ray Lawrence and David Fatula pitched for Rochester. Carl Pepin and Mark Gould pitched for the losers. Mr. Manuel Luiz and Mr. Richard Clymer assisted "Doc" Hutchings with the transportation of the boys to Rochester.

Staying home to mind the store, so to speak, were Mr. Paul Mullaney, Mr. Carl Nelson and Mr. Wayne Bailey, who had two games going at Center School field. Thanks to these gentlemen, the boys are getting ready for the Senior division.

MATTAPOISETT PONIES - RESULTS

Monday, June 28, the Mattapoisett Ponies chocked up a 7 to 5 win at the expense of the Fairhaven Merchants in Elks Pony League competition. David Chase, the starting and winning pitcher, pitched strongly until the late innings. Steven Cadieux assisted him in the role of fireman.

Tuesday, June 29, the Mattapoisett Ponies lost to the Fairhaven Chiefs 5 to 3. The Ponies, after scoring a quick 3 runs to take the lead, were forced to face Hathaway of the Chiefs, their relief pitcher. From the second inning on Hathaway silenced the bats of the Mattapoisett Ponies with some fine pitching. He also contributed a bases' loaded triple to make it his ball game, with a couple more insurance runs. This spelled the margin of victory for the Chiefs.
